The Benefits of Red Cedar

Red Cedar is durable and resistant to rot making it an ideal roofing choice for sheds and cottages. Extractives found in the heartwood stop decay in its tracks by fending off fungi. Many building codes rate red cedar highly due to its durability. It is an eco-friendly choice for exterior use because preservative treatments are not necessary.

The fine, straight grain of this material means it is easy to cut and nail with minimal splitting. Red cedar can be easily sawn with basic hand or power tools. Fasteners rarely split red cedar when it is being attached to your building. If a smoother surface is needed cedar can be planed to fit or match any pattern or profile.
